Dear Judge Douglas H. Wilkins,

Lenny Degnan is the most honest and outstanding person I know.

I have worked with Lenny for the past eleven years, and if there is anything that I have learned from him, it's to be honest.

He lives his life by "the book" and has taught me that that's the only way. Lenny has been more than an employer to me, he is more like the father I wish I had had; a person who will always be there for me when I need him no matter what; someone who will push you to be better and help you find inner strength.

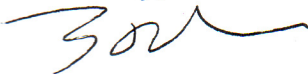

He is a person that will let you know when you have done something wrong but has always been fair and compassionate. He is always the shoulder you can cry on and the rock to depend on. Lenny has done so much for me these past years and has taught me to be a good and honest employee as well as a great person, a wonderful mother and friend. I've always been able to depend on Lenny. He brought me to the hospital to see my sick mother-in-law, when I didn't have the strength to take myself and offered to do anything he could. He is always concerned about how my family and I are doing.

It would be very hard to find a better man than Lenny. I truly believe an injustice has been made. I know that God will write the wrong that has been done to such a great man.

I ask that you also see the injustice here and see what a great man he truly is.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Nildaly L. Morales
